

Ecosystem: A system where the relationships established across different industries become mutually beneficial and self-sustaining.